ALLIED NAVAL SUPREMACY UNCONTESTED

United States Warships Stream Deep Into Enemy Waters Without Being Opposed

LITTLE NEW TO REPORT

BY ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor
Allied naval supremacy in the southwest Pacific appeared unchallenged today as U. S. warships steamed deep into the northern Solomons, shelling a series of Japanese strongholds while victorious American troops completed the conquest of Rendova island after wiping out the enemy garrison.
U. S. shore batteries on Rendova were heavily bombarding the Japanese air base at Munda, New Georgia island, seven miles away.
American dive bombers also smashed at Japanese positions in the Munda area, the navy said, setting fires, and pounded enemy encampments at Vila on Kolombangara island.
Dispatches said it was not immediately known whether the American warships thrusting 150 miles northwest of the Rendova-New Georgia area represented a diversion or the beginning of expanded operations.
A bulletin from Admiral William F. Halsey's headquarters announced today that 123 Japanese planes had been blasted out of the skies over the New Georgia Islands Wednesday and Thursday, against a loss of 25 U. S. planes and 15 pilots.
Twenty-two enemy aircraft were destroyed Thursday, a communiqué said, after 101 had been knocked down the day before as the enemy apparently threw every available aircraft into an attempt to break up the American thrust.
At Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters, a spokesman said tonight (Australia time) that there was nothing further to report from the New Guinea or Solomon fronts. From this it was assumed that all operations were proceeding satisfactorily and on schedule.
Gen. MacArthur's command said Allied warships pounded the enemy at Munda and Vila, on nearby Kolombangara island, and boldly paraded into the heart of the enemy's northern Solomon defenses to attack the Faisi area.
Faisi is a village in the Shortland Islands, 30 miles southeast across Bougainville island.
There was no sign of the Japanese fleet sailing forth to battle in the four-day-old Allied offensive.
Dispatches said Allied casualties in the Solomons had been light despite the hazards.
Imperial Tokyo headquarters again broadcast fantastic claims, asserting that Japanese forces had sunk six Allied warships and three transports, damaged five other vessels and shot down 77 planes in the battle of Rendova island Wednesday and Thursday.
The enemy claims, sharply conflicting with acknowledged Allied losses, said the ships destroyed included a cruiser, four large destroyers and a small destroyer. Another cruiser, a destroyer and three transports were listed as damaged.
Tokyo admitted the loss of only 31 Japanese planes in scoring these purported successes.
The navy announced yesterday that a single Allied vessel, a transport (Turn to Page Eleven)

Figures Quoted in London Declare Reich Has Passed Her Peak

OUTPUT IS DECREASING

BY R. E. BUNNELLE
London, July 2.—(P)—Strained by nearly four years of total war and hammered day and night by Allied air power, German industry has lost the production race essential to victory, although Germany still has plenty of fight left, reliable British and foreign sources indicated today.
Figures gathered by these sources suggest that Germany has positively passed her peak as a war-making power and now is on the downgrade because of a production decline. More conclusive evidence of this will appear within the year, it was said.
A steady fall in steel production, a narrow margin of oil reserves, an inability to replace vital railway equipment, reduction in tank and plane production and other important symptoms of industrial deterioration appeared in the available figures, the sources said.
Tied in with reported electric power difficulties, which were magnified by the RAF's destruction of the Moehne and Eder dams, was an oil shortage.
The best sources estimate that Germany normally needs 12,000,000 to 13,000,000 tons of oil yearly, and Italy 2,500,000, while a comparative lack in fighting exists. Major operations naturally send this consumption skyrocketing.
Germany's present oil reserve is estimated at 3,000,000 tons and the British and foreign sources emphasized that it is all she is likely to have to counter a prospective Allied invasion, since production is said to be just about keeping abreast of consumption.
According to the best information, the Reich now is getting around 5,000,000 tons of natural oil yearly from the Rumanian fields and between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 tons from synthetic plants.
But one of the catches in production of synthetic gasoline, the sources here said, is that the present output requires at least 15,000,000 kilowatt hours of Germany's available 80,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric power.
Locomotives are another weak spot in Nazi war production. Simplified utility models are being turned out at about 300 monthly, but normal wear is estimated to force discard of between 150 and 200 monthly and in May alone the RAF shot up or destroyed some 150.

Fire-Setting Raid Made On Sardinia Port

Baracks and Railway Facilities of Cagliari Are Damaged

ENEMY SCHOONERS HIT

By NOLAND NORGARD
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, July 2.—(P)—Allied airmen shot down four German fighters and slashed again at Axis Mediterranean shipping yesterday in the wake of a fire-setting attack upon barracks and railway facilities of Cagliari, Sardinia's major port, it was announced today.
(Italian communiqué said that Palermo, the Sicilian capital, was attacked again last night, and that the royal palace was "among the numerous buildings damaged." Catania, Sicily, also was raided, it said.)
Spitfire pilots of the U. S. AAF shot the four German fighters off the North African coast. Routine sweeps and patrols were maintained from northwest African bases. Malta-based fighter-bombers attacked the Biscari airdrome in Sicily. A Valletta communiqué said RAF planes of the Middle East command again bombed a medium-sized Axis transport which was found listing heavily to port (Turn to Page Eleven)

Farm Stock Brings New Record Prices

Harrisburg, July 2.—(P)—Pennsylvania farmers in the market for milk cows this summer will have to pay the highest prices ever recorded in the state—an average of $158 on June 15.
The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said today the June price was a gain of $4 in one month and an advance of $48 since June of last year. Last June the average price of hogs dropped 50 cents per hundred pounds in a month to $14.20. Some other prices were sheep, down 40 cents a hundred to $6.40; hay, down from $14.90 per ton to $14.50; and turkeys, one cent a pound cheaper or 36 cents.

Action Starts On South End Of Red Front

Moscow, July 2.—(P)—Attention swung again today to the extreme southern end of the vast Russian front with Soviet disclosure that long-range bombers had attacked the German occupied ports of Kerch and Senaya, both on the shores of the Crimea opposite the Nazi bridgehead on the Taman peninsula.
Observers here attached considerable significance to this sudden shifting of the Red air force. Kerch and Senaya, on the west side of the Crimean peninsula, serve as bases to feed supplies to the German troops on the Taman peninsula and in the Kuban area.
The Russians announced two days ago their aircraft had bombed Port Taman two nights running.
This concentrated aerial activity was variously interpreted by military sources here as heralding either renewed German or Soviet land operations. Some sources were of the opinion the Nazis might be trying to rush in reinforcements.

Six Furnaces Are Restored By Steel Corp.

On Twelfth Day of Walk-out 100,000 Miners Are Reported Idle

SOUTH STILL CRIPPLED

Pittsburgh, July 2.—(P)—The U. S. Steel Corporation, the industry's largest producer, announced today it has restored six more blast furnaces to operation in view of increasing supplies of coal dug by an ever-growing number of miners returning to work after their third recent strike.
On the 12th day of the prolonged walkout about 100,000 of the nation's 521,000 miners were still idle.
Reopening of the six furnaces left but five still inactive of the 37 U. S. Steel has in the Pittsburgh area. At the height of the coal shortage 14 of them were down.
Alabama operators said they might have to bank additional blast furnaces in the Birmingham area unless the coal situation improves there. About 4,500 of the southern state's 24,000 union miners were working and four blast furnaces were closed.
In southwestern Pennsylvania picketing today kept an additional 1,800 men from three mines, including pits of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, a U. S. Steel subsidiary, and the Republic Steel Corporation.
In the eastern Pennsylvania anthracite local, representing more than 1,000 Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company workers, failed to take a vote, indicating its walkout would continue.

RAYBURN PREDICTS VETO OF C.C.C. BILL

Washington, July 2.—(P)—Speaker Rayburn said today that he expects a presidential veto of the Commodity Credit Corporation bill and its ban against price-reducing subsidies to reach Capitol Hill at about 1 p. m.
His statement was made at his noon press conference, and he added that it is "based on my best information."
Rayburn declared that there are two courses which could be followed—one to send the bill to committee, the other to vote immediately on overriding the veto. And he added: "It's my opinion that we'll have a veto."

MOTORISTS ENROUTE TO SEASHORE ARE HALTED

Camden, N. J., July 2.—(P)—Hundreds of Pennsylvania-to-New Jersey motorists were stopped by Office of Price Administration agents at the Delaware river today and only those who could prove they were on essential business were allowed to proceed.
The Camden OPA office said the step, most drastic enforcement of the pleasure driving ban in this area to date, was taken to prevent an Independence Day week-end exodus to the seashore.
The shoreward rush was under way, however, on all types of public transportation. Trains were jammed and many buses had passengers standing in the aisles.

BUTLER MAN KILLED

Butler, July 2.—(P)—Coroner J. Charles Dengler said Charles Vinton McCall, city street department employee, was killed yesterday when he slipped and fell 25 feet from a roof to a sidewalk.

Soldier Would Gladly Trade Jobs With Any Coal Miner

Washington, July 2.—A Coatesville, Pa., soldier serving in North Africa, has offered to trade places with any coal miner "and work for nothing" just to be in the country we love, near the ones we love.
The writer said he was healthy when he arrived in Africa but that now "I can't walk right" from long hikes with full packs, "my eyes are bad from so much night fighting," and "I am run down physically from living in insect-infested foxholes, from lying in muddy trenches, going without hot food and plenty of water for days."
The soldier's address was listed on the letter as "A. P. O. 57, care of postmaster, New York."

Chance For Highway Worker to Earn $25

Harrisburg, July 2.—(P)—Pennsylvania's highway department head today offered a prize of $25 to any employee who can think of a better description of highway workers than "highwaymen."
"To many people refer to my employees as 'highwaymen,'" declared Secretary John U. Shroyer, "and 'highwayman' means robber. I'm going to give $25 to any employee of the department who can think up a more descriptive name for the employees."

O.P.A. SCORED FOR FAILURE TO ORDER HIKE

Chairman of Gasoline Block Accuses Committee of Being Frightened by Lewis

GAVIN JOINS ARGUMENT

Washington, July 2.—(P)—Rep. Hartley (R-N.J.) said today that failure of the Office of Price Administration (OPA) to recommend an increased price for crude oil is due to fear of United Mine Worker criticism.
Hartley, chairman of an eastern seaboard congressional gasoline block, told the committee that if "the powers that be" weren't so afraid of a "kickback" from United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis and members of his union, the 35 cents a barrel increase recommended by Interior Secretary Ickes in his capacity of petroleum administrator would now be in effect.
The committee, declaring it was "tired of getting nothing but sympathy" in regard to its demands that gasoline rationing for eastern motorists be relaxed, agreed to send a committee to discuss the situation with President Roosevelt, War Mobilization Director Byrnes and other officials in charge of the price and petroleum situation.
Demands for an increased price for crude oil were made by Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.), whose district includes part of the rich Pennsylvania oil field, and Rep. Bates (R-Mass.), a member of the house naval-affairs committee who reported recently from a nation-wide trip to petroleum-producing centers.
Gavin, contending that a 35-cent barrel increase was not enough, suggested that the committee ask for a minimum increase of 50 cents because that, he said, was the figure suggested to him by Pennsylvania producers.
The committee agreed also to discuss with the president a suggestion that the Baruch committee, which investigated the rubber problem, be reconvened to study the petroleum and gasoline situation.
Rep. Rogers (R-Mass.), stating that he never knew of "a section of the nation that has been discriminated against as the eastern seaboard is being discriminated against right now," said he favored asking that gasoline shipments to Canada and Mexico be curtailed until seaboard supplies are increased.

Investigation Is Welcomed By RFC Chief

Washington, July 2.—(P)—Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones formally told the house rules committee today that he would welcome a congressional investigation of the feud between him and Vice President Wallace over stockpiling war materials.
Jones was asked by Rep. Fish (N.Y.) how he feels about an inquiry into "the charges and counter charges" he and Wallace have made.
"I have said on two occasions," he replied, "that I welcome such an investigation, and that is my statement to this committee."
Wallace set off the fireworks this week when he accused Jones, as chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC), of "obstructionist tactics" toward the acquisition of vital war materials by the Board of Economic Warfare (BEW), headed by Wallace. Jones said the charge was untrue.
The two were called together by James F. Byrnes, war mobilization chief, whose job is unity on the home front, but this failed to alleviate their differences.

Sweeps Made Over France

BULLETIN
London, July 2.—(P)—A strong force of British planes which observers said apparently included bombers crossed the southeast coast headed for France early tonight.
London, July 2.—(P)—Eight enemy fighters were destroyed by British Spitfires and American Thunderbolts in separate sweeps over northern France and the low countries late yesterday, the air ministry announced today.
The Spitfires got four over northern France and the Thunderbolts the same number over northern France and the low countries. One Thunderbolt was reported missing.

County Cattlemen Join Association

Brattleboro, Vt., July 2.—Arlis Faye and Leigh Smith of Torpedo, were among the 73 Pennsylvania Holstein breeders recently admitted to membership in The Holstein Friesian Association of America by unanimous vote of the board of directors. This National Association is the largest cattle recording organization in the world. Its membership now numbers more than 33,000 cattle breeders.

FIGHT OVER MONEY BILL IS UNRELENTING

Congress Strives for Final Action Today on Two Billion Dollar Measure

SOME AGENCIES CUT

Washington, July 2.—(P)—Weary over appropriations battles, but still far from finished with them, congress strove for final action today on a $2,900,000,000 war agencies money bill in which funds for the Office of Price Administration (OPA) and War Information (OWI) were whittled far below their budget requests.
The jam of money bills on the second day of the new fiscal year also persisted on farm and labor subjects as a thus-far unremitting house an innumerable senate fought on over crop insurance and the National Youth Administration (NYA).
The same fighting spirit dominated house consideration of senate efforts to keep in a $127,000,000 interior departments appropriations bill upwards of $22,000,000 for western irrigation projects.
House insistence on the dismissal of Dr. Robert Morris Lovett, secretary to the Virgin Islands government; W. E. Dodd, Jr., and Goodwin Watson, communications commission employees, whom it contends are subversive, delayed action on a $143,000,000 deficiency bill containing salaries of thousands of government employees and reimbursements for the president's emergency fund.
Senate allowances for Prentiss Brown's OPA were slashed from $177,325,000 to $155,000,000 and for Elmer Davis' OWI from $35,037,593 to $33,155,993 in a conference report drafted last night. (Turn to Page Eleven)

STATE POLICE HEAD APPEALS TO MOTORISTS

Harrisburg, July 2.—(P)—Pennsylvania motorists who carry war workers to and from work were told by C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, that their patriotic duty is to have vehicles inspected now lest last minute rush ties up vital transportation.
The red keystone inspection stickers must be displayed in the lower right hand windshield of any car driven after midnight, July 31.
"There are over a thousand inspection stations operating in Pennsylvania than a year ago and a serious shortage of mechanics," Wilhelm declared. "This makes last minute congestion and confusion inevitable if motorists persist in delay."
Y. M. C. A. RECRUITING YOUNGSTERS TO FARM
Harrisburg, July 2.—(P)—The state Y. M. C. A. hopes to recruit more than a thousand boys and girls 16 years and older for harvest work on Pennsylvania farms this summer.
Charles E. Ford, state boys' work secretary, said today the organization's program has been expanded over that of last year when 300 boys were enlisted for work in orchards in Adams, Franklin, Cumberland and Berks counties.
Recruiting will be done by state Y. M. C. A. secretaries at Harrisburg, Boyertown, Sunbury, Corry and Scranton while girls will be enlisted with the co-operation of Girl Scouts and Y. W. C. A. organizations.

BOY SWIMMER DROWNS

Pittsburgh, July 2.—(P)—Attempting to swim out to some strange object he saw floating in the Ohio river, Robert Calvert, 12, sank from sight 200 feet from shore. Police were dragging the river today for his body.

The examiners will be at the Elks Club all day beginning at nine o'clock in the morning.

Traitor May Seek Pardon After Peace

Stephan Looks Forward to Some Future Presidential Commutation

ESCAPES THE GALLOWS

BY G. MILTON KELLY

Plucked back from the gallows' shadow seven hours before he was to have been hanged as a traitor, German-born Max Stephan kissed the hands of his lawyer and jailer, wept and shouted for joy until he collapsed—and today looked forward to some future presidential commutation restoring his freedom.
President Roosevelt spared his life. The chief executive commuted to a life term the death sentence which had been pronounced upon the one-time German army sergeant. The order declared "the president hopes that no one of his successors will commute that sentence," but to Stephan the words were cause for wild rejoicing.
Charles E. McCabe, one of Stephan's attorneys, said he expected no further plea for clemency would be made for his client while the nation is at war, but that the return of peace would be a different story.
In Detroit, Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle had "nothing to say" about the president's assertion that the death sentence he thrice had pronounced upon Stephan "was too severe" and "did not sufficiently take into account the statute which provides for the different qualities of treason."
The White House statement said President Roosevelt considered Stephan's crime of harboring and assisting an escaped German prisoner of war was less serious than the crime for which six Nazi saboteurs paid with their lives in Washington, while of two companions one was sentenced to life in prison, the other to 30 years at hard labor.

Latest Point Charts to Remain in Effect Until August First

OTHER CHANGES NOTED

Washington, July 2.—(P)—The Office of Price Administration (OPA), predicted a new low in beef supplies available for civilians in July, today increased ration values of beef cuts by another point a pound, and in a few cases, 2 points.
The new point values for beef, which place the ration cost of the most popular cuts at from 9 to 13 points, become effective July 4. Unless the supply situation should warrant changes in the meantime, the new point values will remain in effect until Aug. 1.
Officials said the revised values were based on the present "bad" meat supply situation, with no allowance for improvement or deterioration. Any appreciable change in the supply might necessitate changes before the end of the month.
In addition to higher point values for beef, OPA also raised red coupon costs of some cuts of veal, lamb and mutton from 1 to 2 points a pound. These cuts include leg of veal, veal cutlets, veal loin and rib chops, and similar lamb-mutton cuts. Point values of the most popular pork cuts were not changed.
Canned fish items, with the exception of oysters, were increased from 8 to 12 points. Oysters went up from 3 to 5 points.
"Red" reductions were confined for the most part to the fats, oils (Turn to Page Six)

Bishop Ward to Serve Parish at Alaskan Post

According to word received in Warren, Erie's soldier bishop, Rt. Rev. John Chamberlain Ward, who retired June 1 as head of the 12-county Episcopal diocese of Erie after holding that position for more than 22 years, will re-enter the service of his church and again administer the spiritual needs of American fighting men when he becomes rector of a small Episcopal parish, one mile from a large army post in Alaska, it was learned today.

Announcement of Bishop Ward's acceptance of the Alaskan charge was made at a recent meeting of the Erie Rotary Club by Dr. Elmer Hess, a close friend.

Bishop Ward, a graduate of Harvard University and General Theological Seminary, succeeded Bishop Rogers Israel, another soldier-priest, as prelate of the Erie diocese in 1921. Previously he had served as rector of Grace church, Buffalo, N. Y.

Services For Suicide Are Not Complete

Arrangements for services in memory of Harry W. Morrison, 49, who was found hanging in an engine house on a lease owned by his brother, James Morrison, Thursday, had not been completed today in view of the fact that the widow and son are driving through from Englewood, N. J., and are not expected until later in the day. Tentative plans, however, are to hold it Sunday afternoon at the Sage funeral home.

Mr. Morrison, who had been despondent over ill health, eluded relatives late Thursday morning and when found later apparently had strangled to death, using a small piece of clothes line which he had tied over a rafter. A physician who was called stated he had been dead about two hours.

Mr. Morrison was born October 15, 1893, at McGraw, and resided in that vicinity until going to New Jersey some years ago, since which time he had been engaged in the coal business. He came to Warren county about seven weeks ago after undergoing treatment in a hospital for some time.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Leonard Morrison; a son, Harry, both in Englewood, N. J., and the following brothers and sisters: Thomas E., Tionesta; Robert L., Tidoute; James L., McGraw, and Mrs. Hugh McGraw, of the same address.

Coroner Ed Lowrey and Deputy Sheriff L. E. Linder investigated the tragedy, after permitting removal of the body to the Sage funeral home.

Paul McMahon, of Sheffield RD 2, youthful army deserter is being held at Kane as a deserter from the United States armed forces. His case has been reported to Fort George Meade, Md., from which he has been missing since June 20 and an M. P. will come to Kane for him.

McMahon was arrested in Evergreen park and sent to the McKean county jail. He was wanted by police in connection with a robbery at Brookston and admitted to the officers that he had entered a house there and stole a revolver and other articles. No police charges were entered against him by the Kane police as the military authorities will handle his case.

MEAT DEALERS MUST DISPLAY PRICE LISTS

Charles H. Leslie, district manager of the Erie Office of Price Administration announced today that it is necessary for every retail meat dealer to display the new meat prices in a prominent place near the meat cases in each store. These new prices covering all kinds of fresh meat and including some processed and all variety meats went into effect June 21, 1943.

The new price lists are being distributed by local War Price and Rationing Boards. Any meat dealer who may fail to obtain these price lists can acquire them from their local board, or from the district office, 518 Commerce Building.

"Meat dealers failing to display these prices as required by the regulations are subject to suspension and fine," said Mr. Leslie.

JAM IS EXPECTED
With the long weekend holiday hundreds will endeavor to get to some resort and the railroad and bus lines will be overcrowded. All have issued warnings asking the public not to travel unless it is imperative. While the transportation companies have prepared as far as possible to care for the rush, the facilities are expected to be inadequate for the demands made upon them.

GOT CHEAP MELONS
With watermelons selling for about $1.50 per each in the stores about the city residents near the Pennsylvania freight station have some cheap melons for the holiday. A car being unloaded had some melons with small soft spots and they were sold to nearby residents for 35 and 40 cents each. Many of the melons had only a small spot which was easily cut out leaving the remainder of the melon for eating.

BARN BURNED
Reports of the severe storm that swept this section last Monday continue to come in. The barn on the Perry Spencer farm was hit by lightning and burned. The Sugar Grove fire company responded but such progress had been made by the flames that work was done to save other outbuildings. The wind accompanying the storm did a great amount of damage to trees and small buildings near Chandlers Valley and Stillson Hill.

LIGHTNING KILLED CALF
The storm which swept over this section last Monday was felt in full force at points up the river and at Corydon the lightning struck and killed a calf in the barn of George Wilcox on his farm. A horse in a nearby stall was stunned and the animal still does not act naturally and Mr. Wilcox fears the shock may have deafened the horse. At the time the bolt hit Mr. Wilcox was bringing a cow to the barn and this animal suffered some shock losing the use of its front legs for a short time. Mr. Wilcox escaped unharmed.

Local Stores to Participate In Drive to Sell War Stamps

"Help Build the Shangri-La" is the slogan of a month-long drive to be held by Metzger-Wright's in cooperation with retailers throughout the length and breadth of the land; a drive to sell War Stamps in unprecedented quantities to every man, woman, and child, in Warren County.

At a press conference soon after Jimmy Doolittle's raid on Tokyo, President Roosevelt told reporters the planes came from "Shangri-La," a mythical land in James Hilton's novel "Lost Horizons". Now a real "Shangri-La" is to be built in the form of a giant aircraft carrier to cost $130,000,000. It is to raise this amount that retailers are conducting the July campaign in every city and hamlet of the nation.

Last year American merchants conducted a July drive called "Retailers for Victory" which gave the Treasury its first billion dollar month. In Warren, retailers participated in the drive, and Metzger-Wright's led all participating stores with a total of $24,553. This year, according to a recent decision by the Retail Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, no town-wide drive will be conducted. Each store, however, is pledged to do its best to sell all the War Stamps it can during July and it is expected that a number of individual store campaigns, similar to that of the big department store, will be announced.

According to W. H. Wright, president of Metzger-Wright's, the entire effort will be directed toward selling of War Stamps. Bonds will be sold, but this is primarily an appeal to the "small change" of Warren County; the nickles, dimes, and quarters that go to fill the Stamp books. Every coworker of the store will become a Stamp Salesman and will have stamps for sale at all times. Buyers will be Stamp Captains. A Grand Prize of a $500 Bond will be awarded to the coworker selling the greatest amount of stamps. The goal is $1,000 worth of stamps for the entire store for the month of July.

Children Set An Oil Well Ablaze

Parents of a group of youngsters who were playing about Washington Park yesterday are going to discover just how much pumping jacks and other paraphernalia used about a pumping oil well costs. The children in their play set ablaze the waste oil and sludge about the casing head of the well and it burned quite fiercely. The emergency truck from the Central fire station responded and the firemen quenched the blaze and rounded up the children who had started it. The jack and other equipment around the well was damaged.

Yesterday evening the firemen were called to the New York restaurant where a fire on the range was burning briskly when the firemen arrived. By the use of chemical extinguishers the blaze was brought under control with small or no loss to the establishment. This is the second time the restaurant has suffered from a fire resulting from grease catching ablaze.

BANK CALL ISSUED
The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks at the close of business Wednesday, June 30.

WILL CLOSE MONDAYS
Announcement is made elsewhere in this issue that the La-Vogue Beauty Shop, 210 Hickory street, will close all day on Mondays through July, August and September.

WILL OMIT MEETING
The Lewis M. Clark Camp and Auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, will omit its regular meeting Monday evening because of the holiday and will hold the next regular session on July 19.

NO CLASSES MONDAY NIGHT
Due to the July 4 holiday The Penn State War Training classes will not meet Monday July 5. However classes will resume the regular schedule beginning Wednesday July 7.

LIONS TO INSTALL
For their weekly luncheon-session at the YVCA activities building next Tuesday, Lion Club members will install newly elected officers and hear final reports on the successful early diagnosis campaign just concluded here.

MAY PURCHASE FERRY
Warren folk who own cottages on Chautauqua Lake will be interested to know that the ferry at Stowe may be purchased by Chautauqua County and placed in operation. The ferry has operated from Stowe to Menus Point for 132 years and this year has not been placed in use.

WILL BE QUIET
Warren will celebrate the Fourth quietly Monday and there will be no celebration in any organized manner. It will be perhaps the quietest Fourth of July in years. The usual rush out of town will be checked by the pleasure driving ban and buses and trains will carry many to nearby points. The banks, postoffice, courthouse, business houses will be closed.

OPENS JULY FOURTH
Chautauqua opens on July 4th and despite gas rationing and other war time regulations a good season is anticipated. The program arranged is a worthy one and inasmuch as most of the visitors there stay for the entire season the effect of the gas ban will not be felt as much as in other resorts.

NO ROTARY MONDAY
Because of the legal observance of Independence Day on Monday, local Rotary Club members will omit their regular luncheon-meeting for the week. Ralph H. Wagner, general secretary at the YMCA, is program chairman for July and August and promises something of interest for the two-month period.

NO GREAT RUSH
"For Use" tax stamps which are required on cars after July 1 are still few and far between on automobiles whizzing about the town. Fourteen were counted without stamps this morning parked close together along the street. Enforcement of this provision is under way and in Pittsburgh scores of cars were picked up yesterday.

MONDAY AT THE YM
The Y. M. C. A. building will not be closed all day July 5th because the "Y" officials feel that curtailed travel will keep many members in town who may wish to use the association facilities. The building will open at 1 p. m. and remain open until the usual closing hour at night. The regular swimming schedule for Mondays will be in effect.

SKUNK IN TOWN
Lieut. Gordon Munn of the police department went skunk hunting last night right in the heart of the city. It was reported that one had invaded the Hanna building at 239 Pennsylvania avenue, west through a door that had been left ajar. However the Lieutenant cagily searched all nooks and crannies but was unable to locate the visitor. The police also were on a door locking tour last evening as there was an epidemic of unlocked doors in the business section. A stranger in the city was checked by an officer as he stopped a 14 year old girl on the street at 11:10 last night and he was given a warning.

In Lapland, Sweden, 32 per cent of the trees are more than 100 years old.

LET FREEDOM RING

One hundred and sixty-seven years ago, in downtown Philadelphia, a little band of fearful but courageous men proclaimed to the world certain human principles which, from that day to this, have been the lodestar for this nation.

Nothing in the Declaration of Independence was really new except its compilation in a single document in words that rang with sincerity and purpose. It is, as many have said, a document of glittering generalities, and yet it has provided inspiration for all the peoples who from that day to this have sought to struggle toward genuine, working democracy.

Of all the pungent phraseology in that Declaration, probably none expresses either the spirit of America or the goal toward which we now are fighting so well as one short clause:

"Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

It is all very well for ideologists and evangelists and zealots to dream of how we might make the whole world over into our own image, but the great mass of our people have in mind just two things they want to see come out of Victory.

First, that this nation itself shall maintain a government that derives its powers exclusively from the consent of the governed.

Second, that the rest of the world shall be guaranteed the opportunity to establish governments that derive their powers from the consent of the governed.

Everything else is secondary. Everything else flows from this one thing.

If, in the course of generations, we can assure that the governments of the world shall all derive their powers from the consent of the governed, everything else will follow automatically.

For all people, everywhere, want the same thing that we do—freedom, prosperity, peace.

TRIBUTE TO SCOUTING

High tribute to the value of Boy Scout training to men in the armed forces is contained in a message sent by Brig. General Theodore Roosevelt, now somewhere on the North African front, to the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America of which he has been a vice president for the past eight years.

"Needless to say, the Scouts have been continually in my thoughts and particularly during the few days that we are out of the line, having finished one job and before we go into the line again for the next. In this war the Scouts are giving additional testimony to their work. Many of our best officers and men are ex-Scouts. The sergeant to whom I am dictating this letter now is one."

"The other day I was in a front line observation post. A young officer there was particularly excellent in his observation of enemy activities. I asked him where he had developed his talent. He told me that he was an Eagle Scout."

"The Scouts, largely because of their training, realize that we of the United States have more to fight for than any other nation, because we are fighting not only for our flag, our country, our homes, but also to preserve and maintain the finest form of government in the world, the form of government which gives to its citizens opportunities never possible under any other system of government."

"My message, therefore, to the Scouts of America is this: 'Carry into the war those ideals for which our Movement has worked. It is they for which we are fighting and we must win.'"

BOYS PLAYING

School's out, and it's summer time and swimming time. The woods and fields are at their best. It is the top of the year, and those who are free to get out and enjoy it should make the most of it. Let the boys play ball and walk in the woods and go swimming, where pools are available, when they're not seriously needed at home. It is their time for growing like the grain, for hardening themselves and learning from each other and from Nature herself—the best of teachers.

All too soon the older ones will be growing up and steadying down, and many of them, perhaps, turning from the ball field and the swimming pool to the training camp.

Persons who have had an opportunity to see Warner Brothers' propaganda film, "Mission to Moscow," express divided opinions as to whether it depicts the real understanding between the United States and Soviet Russia, some feeling that it fails to express the mutual respect and friendship which could have been stressed. Be that as it may, it is a truly outstanding picture and one that is certain to excite much interest among moviegoers during its filming at the Library Theatre today and tomorrow.

About time to start picking out a table in one of Warren's parks for that picnic lunch Monday.

"Bet the Folks at Home Are Having a Big Time Today"

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

COLUMBUS, O.—Just what will be the state of the war, the nation, and the political mind a year from now when the national conventions will be held is any one's guess.

But one thing appeared certain at the national governors' conference here: The Democratic administration hasn't yet "appeased" the all-important Democratic South.

This so-called "revolt," however, is mostly within the party, not against it. In other words, these party fences can be mended, by remedying grievances which have caused Southern Democratic leaders to go all or partially anti-New Deal, or by nominating—at least for the vice-presidency—a Southerner in whom the South has complete confidence.

There were 14 Southern and Democratic border states represented here. I talked to many of the 13 governors and to the one lieutenant governor (William Tuck, of Virginia) who spoke for the states below the Mason-Dixon. At my own suggestion, the talks were "off-the-record." It was the substance of the opinions that I wanted. So there will be no direct quotes here.

THE "grievances" add up to this in the order of their importance:

1. In many instances state political leaders have been ignored or over-riden in the handing out of government jobs and in some cases Republicans have been given preference in wholly Democratic states;

2. The failure of the administration to do anything about the freight rates, which the South and Southwestern states claim are brutally inequitable and discriminatory;

3. Growing Congressional sentiment for anti-poll tax and anti-lynching legislation, which the administration has done nothing to stem and sometimes indirectly encouraged;

4. An alleged interference with the South's handling of the racial question in its own way.

IF A strong Southern Democrat could be found for the second spot on the ticket next year—a man who would fight these battles for them, any objection to a fourth term would fade in the South.

As far as I could learn, "Assistant President" James F. Byrnes would be readily acceptable, but to borrow for most of the South the words of personable young Gov. Sam Jones of Louisiana, they are not so much interested in personalities as in issues. The battle cry here was that the South wanted back into the union—on equal footing.

An interesting by-product of these sessions is that a great many of the Democratic leaders (all I could find thought that President Roosevelt will be the next nominee if the war still is on) are positive that Wendell L. Willkie will be his opponent again.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—This is a report for the rest of the country. Hollywood can skip it and probably will, because it doesn't know Mary Lee very well.

Mary Lee, a full half-pint of movie star, has just made a comeback to pictures after a year and nine months of "growing up." She has grown up now—18 years of age, and five feet and one-half inch of height.

That's a full inch taller than she was when she came out of Ted Weems' band into pictures four years ago to garner an army of fans—in the rest of the country, not in Hollywood.

THE reason for her comparative obscurity here is the same that kept Gene Autry out of the local limelight for so long. Gene's pictures were wowing the western fans between here and New York long before the collective echoes of their wowing reached Hollywood Boulevard, eventually forcing the famous alley to give him a showing. That opened the way for Mary Lee, too, in a small way. Mary Lee was featured in nine of the later Autrys.

"But I can still walk down the boulevard without having anybody recognize me," she says. "I think my main fans on the boulevard are the clerks in the department stores—at least, some of them seem to know me. They ask if I'm not the girl who used to sing with Ted Weems. Even they don't mention my pictures. The realization does not crush her. She's all ready getting 500 letters a week on her new picture, "Shantytown," which is a good start toward her old average of 1,000 a week—and the film has been shown to date only in Army camps. Republic is starring her in "Nobody's Darling" as a follow-up, with Jackie Moran, Lewis Calhern and Gladys George in the cast.

THIS big career of a little girl got its start back in Ottawa, Ill., when six-year-old Mary Lee Wooters joined her father and 11-year-old sister Vera in amateur harmonizing. American Legion and Elk meetings for 50 miles around got to know them well.

When Mary Lee was 13, bandmaster Weems came to a park near Ottawa in the course of a nation-wide search for a new girl singer. Mary Lee sang, and she was it. Chaperoned by Mamma Wooters, Mary toured with the band, and the tour brought her to Catalina Island where the movie scouts saw her. She did one brat role with Bonita Granville, then continued on tour. A year later she was in Catalina again, still with the band, and Gene Autry heard her sing on a broadcast. That led straight to a Republic dotted line, and the series of Autry pictures.

Two years ago they decided that brown-haired, brown-eyed Mary Lee was star material, and began looking for stories for her. The story search kept her off the screen, incidentally, long enough to "grow up"—which was the main reason for it in the first place.

Prayer for July Fourth

By Joseph Auslander.

Give us a proud faith to fight for,
A burning dream to defend,
To battle by day and by night for,
To follow through to the end.

Give us a hope to achieve for,
A height to urge us ahead:
More than mere comfort to live for,
More than our sleep and our bread.

Give us a star to aspire to,
A stone to steady our feet:
Something the faint soul can fire to,
Something to rouse the heart's beat.

Give us the glory to plod for,
The courage and strength of our sorrow,
The trials and the truth to thank God for,
The peace of the world of tomorrow.

SPITFIRE FIGHTS BACK

Writer of the following article, and author of the book, "Spitfires Over Malta", is an R.A.F. pilot who won the Distinguished Flying Medal for his important role in the island's heroic defense.

By Flight-Lt. PAUL BRENNAN

I first saw Malta on March 7, 1942, as a member of the first squadron of Spitfires to arrive there. The Hurricanes had been holding on until we came, but they were not fast or well armored enough to do a decisive job. And it was clear that a big action against Malta was developing, because most of Field Marshal Kesserling's Mediterranean air fleet was concentrating in Sicily and preparing to attack.

It is good to know now that the table has been turned—that Malta has been saved and is a strong offensive base, and that its planes are helping to pound Sicily.

The German attack on Malta began on the evening of March 20 last year and was the signal for the most sustained and merci-put only two Spitfires into the air against a raid of 120 attackers. The other pilot and I engaged and destroyed one each.

There seemed to be no stopping the enemy's determination to neutralize Malta. We were too few. But it had been decided that the island must be held at all cost, and we were told that big movements were afoot to reinforce us. Then on April 21, the U. S. aircraft carrier Wasp steamed up with 60 much-needed Spitfires.

Unfortunately, we never were able to use most of those planes. So many were destroyed on the ground before we could get them reamed and refueled that when I flew on April 25 we could muster only six Spitfires and four Hurricanes against a force of 210 enemy planes—110 bombers and 100 Messerschmitt fighters.

Things began to look hopeless for Malta. The people were very near starvation. As pilots, our ration for a day consisted of two thin slices of bread, a little bully beef and the balance made up of tomatoes and green stuff grown on the island. By this time most of the Maltese were living in caves in the rocky cliffs, and they were becoming stupefied by the bombing. All utilities were disrupted.

The courage of the people then was something great. The children were especially cheerful and always would run after us shouting, "Spitfire pilot!" Many of them, taking too many chances to watch the air battles, were killed by the bombs.

The early days of May were the most crucial. Morale was going to hell. Air Marshal Sir Hugh Lloyd called the pilots together and told us we would have to gain local air superiority or abandon the island. We were told that the Wasp, to use Winston Churchill's words, was "going to sting again," bringing another 60 Spitfires.

This time, feverish preparations were made. Sandbag pens, or refueling points, were built on Malta's three airbases sufficient to hold 100 aircraft. We were expecting from the Wasp. Enough coolant, ammunition, petrol and oil were stored in each pen to make that ground self-supporting. A ground crew and pilot were in charge.

Our precautions were effective. Ten minutes after the planes landed, on May 9, most of them were in the air again and engaging the enemy.

The crucial battle came next day. In the Grand Harbor was the British cruiser Welshman, mostly mounting anti-aircraft armament and used for running the gauntlet of the Sicilian narrow to bring urgently needed supplies and ammunition to Malta.

About 11 a. m., the Hun sent 15 Stukas escorted by about 60 Messerschmitts to attack the Welshman in the harbor. We were able to put 48 Spitfires into the air. The barrage from the cruiser and the land batteries was the most terrific thing I ever have seen.

The Stukas dived through the barrage, and those which survived were met by the Spitfires about two miles off the harbor. I got on the tail of one of them, and after a six-second burst he started to go to pieces and crashed about a mile offshore. Out of the 15 Stukas sent to get the Welshman, only two got back to Sicily. In the afternoon came another attack, using Junkers 88's. They met with no easier fate. That night the Rome radio claimed the destruction of 47 Spitfires. We actually lost two, and one of those was shot down by our own flak.

The enemy kept attacking during the next three days, using fewer bombers but huge fighter escorts. I was shot down and put in hospital on May 12. I got involved with about 20 of the enemy fighters and eventually was sandwiched between one attacking behind me and one doing a head-on. The one ahead hit my windscreen with an explosive cannon shell and the splinters put my left arm out of commission.

There is nothing the German finds harder to take than a beating. When he found he could not get our aircraft on the ground, and that he would have to spend a lot of fighter strength to overcome them in the air, he gave up. On May 21, we saw the Italian bombers for the first time. They flew very high, did no damage, and their losses were so heavy that their raids were only sporadic. It was from this date that Malta moved into the role of a potent offensive base from which to strike the enemy in the Mediterranean.

We were very short of high-octane petrol, but in June the first of the famous Malta convoys arrived. They also brought bombs and torpedoes, and by this time we had a squadron of Beauforts. The latter went to work and began taking heavy toll of enemy shipping off the coast of Tunisia.

However, the difficulties of reinforcement were such that Malta did not take up her full offensive role until this year when General Alexander's army occupied Benghazi. The scene had now changed. Instead of the long run for our convoys from Gibraltar they would leave Benghazi early in the afternoon and next morning would be under the air umbrella from the island.

Malta is the most central striking place in the Mediterranean. On a clear day, Sicily seems almost underneath a pilot flying at 25,000 feet, though it is 60 miles away. The heel and toe of Italy are only 160 miles to the northeast, and the Italian navy at Taranto has been too close for its own comfort.

Committee On Scouts Get Instructions

Troop 8 Boy Scout committee of the Jefferson Bible Class, First Presbyterian church, received their Leadership Training Lectures on Wednesday evening in the Jefferson lecture room of the church. Each lecture of one half hour covered one particular phase of the work.

The lecturers from the Warren County Council and their subjects were: J. R. Reddick—"The Development of Scouting in America." J. C. Springer—"Essentials of the Boy Scout Program." Leo Giese—"How the Church Uses the Scout Program." Chester A. Seymour—"Troop Committee Organization."

These able speakers, each skilled in his line, developed their subjects along boy development and training trends that should interest every parent. The occasion was the annual reorganization and installation of the Scoutmasters and troop committee men of Troop 8 Boy Scouts.

The new Scoutmaster installed is Herman Hansen, and the assistant Scoutmaster is E. F. MacKendrick.

The members of the troop committee, selected from the Jefferson Bible Class, the sponsor of the troop, were installed by the Scout executive, Chester A. Seymour, who charged each member with specific duties as follows:

defense of the island. Spitfires from Malta have been strafing aircraft and installations on Sicily, and Wellingtons and Halifaxes have been dropping block busters on Italian ports. Planes from Malta will effectively block the reinforcement of Sicily, Sardinia and Corsica.

A message to Miss America

We can't blame your boy-friend for wanting to talk as long as you'll stay on the line.

And we're glad that Dan Cupid finds our telephone service so useful in arranging his very important affairs.

But won't you . . . please . . . remember that war needs the wires these days—and keep your calls as brief as possible?

It's not that we put War ahead of Cupid, but "little Dan" wouldn't be happy doing the goose-step with a swastika in his hand.

So we'll just remind you again that war is on the wires. Please keep your calls brief—well, reasonably brief, anyway. You can say a great deal, you know, with just three little words.

Commandos Will Gather Fats For War Use During this Month

The Times-Mirror Junior Commandos during the month of July will have one of their most important tasks and the interesting part of it all is that the Commandos will have an opportunity to win some prizes. Colonel Russell Elliott has been notified that the need of "fats for war" is urged and he has taken the matter up with the Majors of the Commandos. It has been agreed that the Commandos can "help win the war" by gathering fats.

The Commandos will call at all homes in their neighborhood and make arrangements to secure the fats saved by the housewives. And it is hoped and expected that the fats will be given to the Commandos. They in turn will take it to the various meat markets which are collecting the fat and the dealer is asked to give the Commandos a credit slip for what they turn in. These will be given to the Major in charge of the various groups and he will send them to Colonel Elliott.

The campaign of the Commandos will last the entire month of July and when all slips are checked an award of $5 in war savings stamps will be given to the Commando who has secured the most fat. Three dollars in stamps will go to the Commando with the next highest standing and two dollars in stamps to the third highest collector.

New Low in Beef Supplies in July Predicted by Officials and dairy products groups. Margarine and lard dropped 1 point—5 to 4 while "process" butter, sold mainly in the south, appeared on the table for the first time at 4 points a pound. Regular butter remains unchanged at 8 points.

Cheddar cheese retains a value of 8 points a pound, but lower values were established for group 2 and 3 cheeses. Group 2, which includes cream, neufchatel and creamed cottage cheese (containing more than 5 per cent butter fat), now are listed at 2 points a pound, and group 3, made up of swiss, brick muenster and all other rationed cheese, 5 points. In each group there is a decrease of 1 point.
OPA also announced 17 changes in point values of processed foods, 12 upward and 5 downward.
Point value advances were made in seven vegetable items, and five canned bottled fruits. These increases range from about 5 percent for vacuum-packed whole kernel corn to over 50 percent for tomato catsup and chili sauce. Processed foods marked up include apples, apricots, fruit cocktail, peaches, pears, fresh lima beans, canned corn, peas, tomatoes, catsup, chili sauce and tomato paste. Reductions were made in fresh shelled beans, green or wax beans, tomato pulp or puree and some tomato sauces.
The new "blue coupons" costs become effective July 4, and will remain valid through July. Pork point values were not increased, OPA said, because supplies of pork available during July are expected to be substantially larger than beef. By keeping pork point costs relatively cheap in comparison with beef, OPA hopes to whet the American appetite for pork.
In line with beef increases on the general list, OPA advanced point values for all kosher cuts—except variety meats.
Here are some of the new point values for preferred beef cuts, all up one point:
Porterhouse, T-bone, club, and sirloin steaks, 12 points; boneless sirloin, round and flank steaks, 13 points.
Beef roasts, for the most part, went up 1 point, but some advances were 2 points. Beef steaks and numerous other cuts also went up 1 point.
Lamb-mutton advances included: loin chops, 10 points, up 1; leg chops and steaks, 8 points, up 1; leg roasts and sirloin roast, bone in, 7 points, up 1.
Only meats to show a reduction were three pork cuts—fat backs and clear plate, jowls and regular plates, down 1 point a pound.

Personal Paragraphs

Two members of the Warren Lodge of Elks are said to be in line for special honors in the North district, in which the local order is affiliated. According to reports, H. D. Baker has been elected vice president of the district, which means that he will be elected president in 1944. R. L. Ruhlman is to be recommended for district deputy at the convention in Boston week after next. Both are past exalted rulers.
Mr. and Mrs. David W. Russell, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Russell, at Smith's Corners, have gone to Downer's Grove, Ill., where Mr. Russell will take up his duties as head master of the Avery Connelly School.
Mrs. Everett H. Eddy, 410 Market street, has left for Sharon, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Harry J. Williams, and family, joining her daughters, Elizabeth and Carolyn, who have been there for some weeks.

TIMES TOPICS

SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED
A new schedule at the War Price and Rationing Board has been announced in effect Tuesday morning, July 6. The public will be served between 10 and 12 in the morning and from 1 to 5 in the afternoon. Saturdays from 10 to 12.
SHIRINERS' CEREMONIAL
Among the many Shriners who gathered for the observance of the victory ceremonial in Zem Zem Temple at Erie were the following local members: W. E. Lutz, H. A. Ross, Paul Yagge, Clair Hulings, Fred A. Schuler, George Geraci, Forrest Waite, Virgil Lesser, Chris Moll, Edward Walker, Hilding Lundahl, W. F. Crossett, Don Drake, Roy Krebs, Don Smith, Les Swinney, A. R. Peterson, Ralph Owens and Sam Rasmussen.
ON THE WINDSHIELD
In the absence of any change of ruling, it is stated today that the proper place to put the new federal use stamp is in the lower right hand corner of the windshield, adjacent to the official inspection sticker. Many persons have confused placing of this stamp with the ruling that gasoline stickers are to appear on the rear window of the car. Pennsylvania State Police here have had no specific orders concerning the federal use stamp but, since no legal extension of time has been placed on the current sticker, the regulation calls for a new stamp as of July 1. Officers at the local barracks state today that OPA officials will probably look to the matter of enforcement of the regulation.

YM Planning New Camping Arrangement

A feature of the summer vacation program for boys of the Y. M. C. A. will be the "Y. M. C. A. Victory Camp", operating on the Camp Jeffmore property for two three-day periods: July 13-16 and August 10-13, under the direction of William L. Parnlee, Physical director of the association.

Indications point to considerable interest among families in a short-term camping experience for boys—an experience supplying the thrill of out-door camping, without use of gasoline and at little cost. The "Y" is trying to satisfy this interest with this "Victory Camp" innovation. Arrangements have been made with the Boy Scouts Council for the use of Jeffmore facilities, and transportation will be a-foot.

Due to a serious shortage of leadership and limitations of facilities, the camper group for each period must be limited to 20 boys, divided into two age sections. Ten places in the camper group will be reserved for boys 9 and 10 years, and the same number for boys 11 years and over. Actually the program will cover the larger part of four days, since the boys will leave at 1 p. m. on Tuesday and get back home about lunch-time on Friday.

Complete information and registration forms can be secured at the Y. M. C. A. office.

CRUDE OIL STOCKS LOW

The monthly petroleum statement issued by the United States Bureau of Mines for the month of April disclosed a withdrawal of 41,000 barrels from the stocks of Pennsylvania Grade crude oil during April. Total stocks of Pennsylvania Grade crude oil on hand at the end of April were 2,307,000 barrels as compared to 2,348,000 barrels as of the end of March.

Doubleheader on Russell Field Monday Big Attraction

St. Marys Colts Arriving With Classy Team to Clash With the National Forge Monday 2:30

Monday afternoon at 2:30, the St. Marys Colts will arrive in Warren for a doubleheader with the National Forge and Ordinance baseball team in what promises to be one of the hottest games in the season this year.

Advance notices place the Colts high in Elk county circles, in fact just about the same position as the Forgers rate in Warren county, so an eventual playoff was inevitable.

The fact that the bookers for the event were able to contact and arrange the game for the holiday should be one appreciated by the fans of Warren because in years past there has never been a team played here that fans would rather see than the St. Marys Colts.

Either Diz Hines or Freddie Jagliardi will toe the mound for the Forgers this week, but the nod

Haegg To Run Two Miles In Race Tonight

Chicago, July 2.—(P)—Gunder Haegg is going out tonight to run two miles in his second United States competitive appearance, thus adding a lot of spice to the Central Amateur Athletic Union track meet which usually involves athletes from local club and park teams.

The swift Swede and Vaulter Cornelius Warmerdam will be co-starred in Soldier Field in a meet which had one of the quietest promotional buildups in years, but Haegg intends to do his part to make it a real show by competing in a special two-mile event with Gil Dodds, the Boston University divinity student, and three other U. S. runners.

The Central A. A. U. ran into two major golf tournaments and the local baseball war relief day this week as it competed for headlines about town. Consequently the A. A. U. ran a poor fourth—although business is brisk today.

LAKE SAILING RACE

Erie, July 2.—(P)—The 36th annual Annette Cup race will be sailed over the 44-mile course from Erie to Port Dover, Ont., tomorrow. One of the oldest long-distance sailing races on the Great Lakes, the Annette Cup event has drawn an entry list of eight boats.

STRUTHERS DROPS 6-3 TO PIONEERS

The weather was cold but "Dusty" Elmo was hot as the Meadville Pioneers snapped a three-game losing streak Wednesday night by defeating the local Struthers-Wells nine 6-3 at Athletic Park, Meadville.

Elmon, recording his sixth victory against one defeat, fanned a total of 15 batsmen and scattered nine safeties.

The Pioneers, never headed, counted once in the first, added another run in the fourth and sewed up the pastime with a two-run burst in the fifth. Two more runs came over in the next frame.

The visitors, who had counted a 5-2 success against the locals last week, scored single tallies in the fifth, sixth and eighth stanzas.

Veterans "Diz" Hines, on the mound for the Steelers, gave up ten hits to Pioneer batsmen, six of them doubles. The hurler, who earned last week's decision against Meadville at Oil City, stole batting honors while losing on the rubber. He collected three hits, a double and triple among them.

Wilmington, Del., July 2.—(P)—They carried George "Dusty" Brown of York, Pa., out of the ring last night, but a draw over high-ranking Maxie Shapiro of New York went with him. Somehow in his fast-stepping retreat from Shapiro's two good fists Brown, currently fighting out of Wilmington, sprained his right instep, but he used a left hook jab often enough in the meantime to keep Maxie at bay.

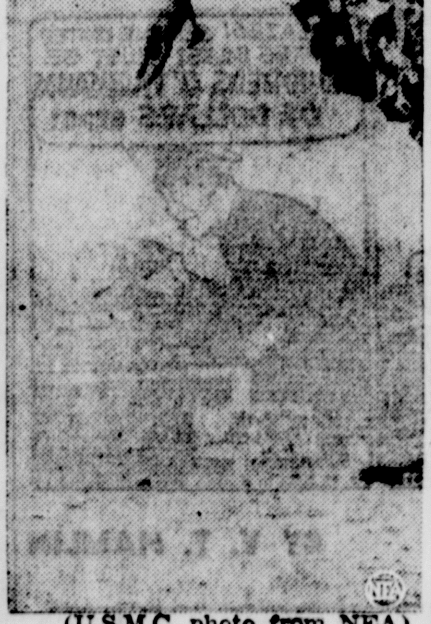

Williamsport, Pa., July 2.—(P)—Harold W. Reason, 42, of Jersey City, N. J., a Canadian-American League umpire for the past two seasons, has joined the Eastern Baseball League umpiring staff. President Thomas W. Richardson said he would make his first appearance at Scranton.

NEW PITT COACH

Pittsburgh, July 2.—(P)—Sid Luckman, former Columbia University and later Chicago Bears quarterback, has been signed as assistant grid coach at Pitt. ## LOSER TAKE ALL

By Adelaide Hazeltine

Chapter 23

WHEN Ann opened her eyes Bert was bending over her. "I'm all right," she said at last. "Plain case of hysterics," his smooth professional voice explained. "You're to go to sleep now and then tomorrow, if you're better, we'll talk this thing over."

Tomorrow? Suddenly she hoped tomorrow would never come. She'd lost Terrence House. She'd made a fool of herself to Jerry. She was achingly unhappy.

"Now take this," Bert held a little white capsule to her mouth, lifted her head while she sipped water. "If you need me in the night have someone call."

"Why don't you ask me... what brought this on? Or don't you want to know that your hundred to one shot was no good?"

"No good? You mean...?"

"I mean this little fit of hysterics was started by the burning of my grandmother's will."

"You saw it?"

"I caught Jerry Lane in the act." Then she told him the story. When she finished he said, cryptically, "Well, you'll never win if you don't place a bet," and left her to figure that out for herself.

FLORA was there the next morning when Ann awakened. The maid brought her a tray of food and a basket for Gibbs.

"I'll try to get it to him sometime during the day," she told the girl. "I'm afraid I can't make it right now."

"You shouldn't go out in the rain, miss. If I could take it?"

Ann smiled. She hadn't noticed the rain though it was beating against her window. "Thank you, Flora. The rain may stop by noon and I can go with it."

She ate a light breakfast, lay down and dozed off.

It was 3 o'clock before she felt equal to dressing. She put on her blue and beige suit with a fresh powder blue blouse. Then she sat near the window and watched the rain falling in a grey sheet of water outside.

It was a bleak day on which to give up all the bright, happy plans she had drawn around the possession of Terrence House.

But she would have to give them up. Her last hope was burned with the will last night.

"She had just reached the conclusion that she would pack her bags this afternoon and leave tomorrow when Gibbs appeared at her door. He stood, dripping hat in hand, and said, 'I come the back way. Ain't nobody stirrin' in this weather.'"

"You must be careful, Gibbs. I know you thought I'd deserted you. I have a basket here for you."

"I wasn't a-mindin' the grub," he returned. "But," he shuffled his feet, "it's that stuff. I'm 'bout out again."

"Out of minerals?"

He nodded.

"I can give you a little more money," she reached for her purse. With the exception of her train fare back, she had only two $10 bills. She gave one to Gibbs. "It's not much use but we'll keep it going a few days. I wanted to talk to you anyway."

"Yes'm."

"YOU know you wanted to give it up that night Mr. Baxton fired you and I persuaded you to stay on. I told you then when we gave it up we'd do it together. Well, I'm ready to give it up, Gibbs."

"They ain't no sign of that feller a-showin' the will?"

"No signs at all. He burned it last night."

Gibbs' face drew into a knot of resentment. "I'll never do him no good. That's what it won't be."

"I... I think I'll be leaving tomorrow. Have you any plans?"

"His eyes were full of wisdom. 'I ain't got no plans.'"

She knew what he was thinking—that Grand Gussie had always said she would take care of him.

But she hadn't.

"You're to some wherever I am, Gibbs. I'll see that you get a good job."

"You're a goin' to give it up for sure?"

"Yes, Gibbs."

He shook his head. "It's a crime. That's what it is!"

Chapter 24

"THE river!" Jack gasped. He pushed the baby into Ann's arms. "Daddy says for you to take care of Mary Lee."

"But... the river? Is it high?"

"Daddy says it looks like a flood to him."

A flood! That meant... "Oh, Jack, hurry. Tell you father to get you all out quick!"

She should have thought of the river. With the rain that had fallen all day, the Flate could wash the whole trailer camp away before the other families knew what was happening.

She grabbed the phone, asked Flora to come at once. By the time the maid reached the room Ann had Mary Lee on the bed, wrapped in a dry blanket.

"Take care of her, Flora," she said. She threw a searlet rain cape over the shoulders of her suit and ran down the hall.

Passing Mr. Baxton's door, she swerved around a corner and collided with two figures concealed in the half-darkness. Two startled figures.

"Where's the fire?" said Bert nonchalantly, not bothering to take his arms from around Sarah.

"I... it..." she couldn't get it out. As if seeing Sarah in Jerry's arms hadn't been enough. That nurse certainly worked the field.

AND Bert did, too. But the knowledge didn't hurt her. She was past all that. Nothing to do with love could ever hurt her again.

"It's the river," she said and was proud of the cool contempt in her voice. "The Masons sent their baby here. I'm going to try to warn the others. If it floods there'll be work for everybody."

"More charity," said Sarah and turned brazenly back to Bert.

Ann didn't wait to hear more. She rushed outside, started for the hill.

It was dark on the street, the close, limitless dark of a rainy night. It would be dark in the trailer camp, too. Too dark for the people to see the treacherous water creeping nearer to their doors.

She reached the hill, ran down. Water splashed over the tops of her low pumps, drenched her face, oozed in cold rivulets down her neck.

She heard the roar before she reached the bridge. Then she saw what she had dreaded. The Flate was no longer a quiet river. It was a growing monster, straining at its bounds. Broken trees, driftwood, water soaked logs already pounded against the piers.

Her shoes squashed on the wet boards as she dashed across.

The camp was alive with panic. Men swore, women screamed and children cried for their mothers. Ann kept on the street until she was even with the Masons' home. Then she started down the incline toward it. Her feet hit the water. It swelled over her ankles, halfway, soon all the way to her knees.

SHE struggled through, reached for the steps of the trailer, pulled herself up, wrenched open the door.

"Mrs. Mason!"

The woman lay on her cot, her eyes closed.

"Mrs. Mason, quick! Where's your husband?"

She roused. "Gone for a car. He'll be back soon. Did you get the baby all right?"

"Yes, isn't Jack back?"

"Not yet."

"How soon do you expect Mr. Mason?"

"Any time."

"We can't wait. Can you stand up?"

"I tried a minute ago," she said weakly. "I... I'll try again."

She eased her feet off the cot, made an effort to get up but sank back. "I'm so shaky."

"I'll have to get help."

Ann dashed to the door, peered out. A man's figure splashed past. "Help!" she called.

"High water!" the man shouted as if that answered her and was gone.

She wasted a priceless moment waiting for someone else. When no one passed within distance of her voice she jumped down into the water, pushed against the swirling current toward the street.

She made it, was thankful.

A WOMAN stumbled by, crying pitifully and hugging a small child in her arms. A boy with a play wagon full of clothes came next. Not seeing her he almost knocked her down.

Then a tall figure detached itself from the blackness before her and in the next second she recognized him.

"Jerry! Thank heavens."

"Ann!"

"Quick, help me with Mrs. Mason."

"Where is she?"

"In there!"

His hand gripped her arm. "I'll get her. You stay here."

"I'll help some of the others," Ann cried. "They don't seem to realize how much they'll have to hurry!"

She turned to push her way toward the next trailer. The water was up to her hips now.

In so short a time it had to her hips.

In half an hour, less, thing would be lost.

Frogs Were Expensive For Oil City Men

Game Protector C. B. Benson, of Tionesta, and Fish Warden R. C. Bailey, of Youngsville, laid out from 10 o'clock last Wednesday night, to 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning, when they picked up two Oil City hunters about 20 and 30 years of age, who had "jumped" the frog hunting season a few days. Between them they had taken about a dozen live frogs. The men were turned over to Fish Warden Julius Ahrens, of Oil City, who haled them before an Oil City alderman. Each paid a fine of $35 and about $2.50 costs. The men got the frogs near the Hunter Station river bridge and we figured they were rather costly, since they were not allowed to keep them. Mr. Benson brought the frogs to Tionesta and placed them in Tionesta Creek. There are quite a few big fellows croaking in the back channel and mouth of the Tionesta creek, that are tempting some of our nimrods to take a chance before someone else gets them. Then, too, a nice mess of bullfrogs would taste mighty good, and save ration points. But $35 is too much for a dozen frogs, especially when the warden won't let you keep them.—Tionesta Republican.

RAGS WANTED

Harrisburg, July 1—Salvage committees throughout Pennsylvania were asked today by Warren R. Roberts, chairman of the Advisory Salvage Committee, to stimulate the collection of rags throughout the summer months.

Personal Paragraphs

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Miller, of Greensburg, will be the holiday weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Greenlund, St. Clair street.

Guests at the Paul McGarry home on Mohawk avenue over the weekend will be their daughters, Miss Anne, who is employed at Kaufman's in Pittsburgh, and Miss Mary, employed by Bell Aircraft in Buffalo.

Warren's very well known "Doc" Chapman will have a birthday tomorrow and it is anticipated that he will be well remembered upon the occasion. Strictly a "Warren county product," Dr. Chapman has been a lifelong resident here, becoming a power in Republican political circles in the state. He was first elected to the senate in 1930 and has been serving there continuously.

Mrs. D. F. Seybert, of Washington, D. C., is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Dilleuth, Willoughby street.

Little Mary Lou Ingram, of Beaver Falls, here for the past week or more with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. McConnell, Market street, is leaving to join her family at Lighthouse Point on Lake Chautauqua.

Mrs. A. M. Kraft, of Corydon has a Christmas cactus blooming at her home. This is considered most unusual as these plants bloom only during the Yule season and no Corydon folk have ever heard of one being in bloom at this time of year. Probably the cold weather got the cactus mixed up, according to one who viewed the beautiful blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Metzger have arrived from Tarentum to spend the holiday weekend visiting in town.

Mrs. Ray Stearns and son, Jimmy, of Corry, were in Warren Wednesday evening to attend the dance recital given at the high school by the Williams Studio, Richard and Raymond Rapp, brothers of Mrs. Stearns, had prominent roles in the program.

"Dukie" Lindmark, of the Voters Registration office at the Court House is developing into one of the county's leading Victory Gardeners. He has acquired a coat of tan equal to that which can be secured at Atlantic City and claims to have acquired a knockout punch on potato bugs, cut worms and other pests and that his garden is production 110%.

America's Torch of Freedom Lights the Way to Victory for All the United Nations JULY 4th, 1943

This is the Fourth of July anniversary of the fulfillment of this nation's independence. This nation, dedicated from its first cry of life, to liberty! It is impossible for us to observe that date, this year, without realizing how we once again are embattled in the same cause---now on a global scale---that all the men, women and children of the world might henceforth also live free to worship and speak as they see fit---free from fear---free from want.

We who walk and fight under the Stars and Stripes have by our side, under their own brave banners, those other United Nations with whom we proclaim "United we are strong, united we will win", and as the Fourth of July signals the independence of these United States, may some future date signal the independence of mankind everywhere, freed from the despotic tyranny of the enemy!

This Fourth Buy Fireworks for Uncle Sam...Buy More War Bonds in Freedom's Name...

In honor of the fighting sons of freedom on all the far-flung battlefronts of the world who are striving to create the free world tomorrow!
